Celebrating Women of Character, Courage, and Commitment

This year's theme honors extraordinary (often unrecognized) determination and tenacity of women. Against social convention and often legal restraints, women have created a legacy that expands the frontiers of possibility for generations to come.

During March, Women's History Month corresponds with International Women's Day on March 8. It is observed by the U.S., the U.K., and Australia in March and by Canada in October.

@your library discover the lives of women who have demonstrated their character, courage and commitment as mothers, educators, institution builders, business, labor, political, community leaders, relief workers, spiritual leaders, and CEOs. Ask one of our friendly librarians for directions into a world of inspiration!

Hands-Only Citizen CPR!

In this 30-minute, hands-only CPR training event, you can be prepared if someone needs help. This is a non-certificate program taught by the American Red Cross. Ages 10 through adult.

Review: This Town—two parties and a funeral—plus plenty of free parking! - in America's gilded capital!

If you are depressed about the money culture in Washington, perhaps you should not read this book: it might push you over the edge. Still, it may be best to know some of the grim details about how the world of lobbyists, consultants, advisors and other assorted bipartisan gifters works. Besides, This Town is a quick read and is sometimes darkly funny. If you are looking for solutions, however, you won't find them here. Mark Leibovich the consummate reporter- and fixing things is not in his job description.
